Japan Spurns U. S. Protest

Nippon Foreign Minister
Replies To Hull's Note
On Nanking Bombings

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Japan bluntly advised the United States today that she will continue to bomb military objectives in the Chinese capital of Nanking, despite vigorous American protests over aerial attacks on urban areas populated by peaceful people and non-military property.

The Japanese asserted, in a formal note to Secretary of State Cordell Hull that the bombing of military facilities in and around Nanking "is a necessary and unavoidable measure for attainment of the military objectives of the Japanese forces."

Japan promised not to aim bombs at non-combatants and reiterated her "desire" to avoid injuring nationals or property of other countries "if possible."

State department officials made public the text of the note, written by Koki Hirota, Japanese foreign minister, but declined to comment on the reply until American diplomatic officials have had opportunity to study its implications.

Roy Strum, of Vacaville, whose appointment to succeed J. R. Johnson as manager for the El Dorado County district of the Pacific Gas & Electric Company was announced Monday by E. W. Florence, division manager at Sacramento, arrived in Placerville Thursday morning.

His plans are to spend Thursday and Friday acquainting himself with his new field and will come to Placerville as a permanent resident about October 15.

Mr. Strum has been the company's district manager at Vacaville and is being succeeded at Vacaville by W. C. Macey, who is assigned to the post from the San Francisco offices of the Pacific Gas Electric Company.

The new district manager, entering into his regular duties about October 15, will have opportunity to familiarize himself with the extent of the district and the character of its physical equipment under the guidance of Mr. Johnson who will continue, until the first of the year, to divide his time between the El Dorado district and his new post, at Auburn, as division manager of the company's Drum division, to which he recently was appointed effective January 1, to fill a vacancy arising through retirement of the present manager.

MR. AND MRS. ARMES SEE SAFEWAY BAKERY AT SAN FRANCISCO

Louis reports that McNeerney has charge of 40 bakers and that the capacity of the plant is about 55,000 loaves daily.

Mr. Armes also mentioned having visited the Fleishacker zoo, fishing off the docks at old Fort Mason in the shadow of the Golden Gate bridge, making a tour through the Shell Oil Company offices at the bay city and receiving from his superiors in the company a gold lapel button for having headed the district which registered fourth in sales in this section of the state.

At that hour they will be opened publicly and read.

While popular report said that as many as five proposals of sites might be offered, Postmaster Joseph Scherer said Wednesday afternoon that only one communication had come to his office up to that time.

Among the possible sites which have been suggested by the general public are a location on Upper Main Street above the Placerville Bottling Works, a location at the junction of Main street and Bedford Avenue opposite the courthouse; the St. Francis Hotel site; a location on Sacramento Street above the Ford agency.

Tony Lazzeri Faces Fine For Prank

NEW YORK, (UP)—Tony Lazzeri, New York Yankee second baseman, faced a $500 fine today because of a prank.

In the eighth inning of a game with Philadelphia, Bob Johnson of the A's was at bat. Johnson swung, and a dirty, almost lopsided ball bounced off his bat. The umpire investigated, discovered it was a ball the Yanks had used in infield practice. The players took it as a joke. Lazzeri had given the ball to the pitcher and had pocketed the new.

The umpires said Lazzeri violated the rule prohibiting tampering with the ball. The incident will be reported to League President Will Harridge and Lazzeri is waiting to learn whether he'll receive a reprimand or a fine.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL PREPARATIONS MADE WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Preliminary arrangements looking toward the annual Red Cross roll call, opening on Armistice Day, were outlined at a meeting of the executive board of the county Red Cross chapter on Wednesday evening at the county welfare headquarters.

In attendance was Milton B. Rendahl, field representative from the Pacific district headquarters, who spoke briefly on the Red Cross work in flood relief in the Mississippi Valley last Spring and said he will endeavor to obtain motion pictures of some of the work for showing in the county during the annual Roll Call.

In general, the Roll Call workers are the same as those who served last year. The various chairmen have been contacted and have agreed to serve, and they, in turn, will contact their committee members.

The board named Mrs. Edwin Smith, secretary of the chapter, Mrs. Elizabeth Savers, welfare officer, and Mrs. M. T. Kelly and Mrs. Ruby Allen as delegates to the annual Red Cross conference for the Pacific district, at San Francisco on October 12.

WITNESSES HUNTED IN ROSS KIDNAPING IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, (UP)—Federal agents and police sought new witnesses today in their search for Charles S. Ross and his kidnapers.

Ross was kidnaped by three men on his way to Chicago a few hours later. Investigators retraced his route as far as known, seeking other witnesses who might describe the abductors.

Shipping Resumed At S. F. Waterfront

SAN FRANCISCO, (UP)—The San Francisco waterfront, battleground for three paralyzing labor wars in three years, hummed with normal activity today under terms of a truce in the war between American Federation of Labor teamsters and Committee for Industrial Organization longshoremen and warehousemen.

FLOOD-LIGHTING PLAN FAVORED

Legion Moves Forward In Plan
To Sell 100 $5 Bonds For Lighting Athletic Field

The American Legion is pressing its program to light the playing field at Marcus P. Bennett, Jr., Memorial Park.

At the post meeting on Wednesday night, the committee in charge was authorized by the membership to "go ahead." The only limitations on the project now are those which may be revealed in an investigation of the proposed plan by the post's legal advisers.

If no flaws in the plan are found by attorneys, the committee will issue and sell 100 bonds at $5 each to raise $500 for the floodlighting project. The committee announces that in no event will the cost of the project exceed $500 and no work will be started until the entire amount proposed to be spent has been raised.

The bonds will be redeemed out of the earnings of the flood-lighted events at the playing field.

Wednesday night being the fifth Wednesday of the month, the post had the members of the auxiliary unit as guests and, following a short business meeting, there was dancing and a social time.

Red's Rhythm Rascals played for dancing.

Justice Black In Radio Talk

Senator Ashurst Declines
Comment; Hints Probable
Trial Before Senate

The chairman of the senate judiciary committee, asked for a statement on his views of the current Black-Klan issue, said:

"It is probable that during the next session of congress, the senate may be called upon to exercise its judicial power, and I do not propose to permit myself to be disqualified from performing my duties in such judicial function. Hence, I could not properly form any opinion which might disqualify me from performing my duties later."

DRAWING ON HIS ACCOUNT

Home and School

Close allies are Home and School in the development of the child. Neither can shift the responsibility for his education wholly upon the other. What a child gets out of his school year depends much on his home background and it is up to Mother to make the environment helpful.

The home atmosphere should be one of appreciation for the school. Parents of children in the lower classes would do well to visit the school room and observe how their children adapt themselves to the life there. Parents of older children should attend school athletic events, plays, musical concerts and all public programs in which their children have a part. It is only through close contact with the child, his teachers and his schoolmates that a parent can fully understand his child, his interests and his problems.

The conversation in the home should cultivate respect and friendship for the teacher and emphasize the importance of school life. Parents should notice carefully the school records the child brings home, talk with the child about his studies, look over his books, encourage him in his school activities, and see that no diverting interests, either work or play, interfere with his concentration upon his school life.

The child needs a background of health to do his school work successfully. Before school begins, he should have had a medical examination and care for eyes, teeth, inoculation to prevent scarlet fever and diphtheria, and such other medical attention as is needed. If this has been neglected, it should be done as soon as possible.

The school child needs nine or ten hours of sleep each night in a room with fresh air. He needs a wholesome diet, regularity of body habits, hygienic clothing, a quiet place and time in which to do his home work, good lighting for evening study and an attitude of encouragement. There is nothing you can do for your child so important as to see that he has good health and a good education. So equipped, he is fitted to go out into the world and make his life a success.

Mrs. Solomon Says:

The person who wakes up and finds himself famous hasn't been asleep.

Coats

Fur coats still are the vogue for those who can afford them, but cloth coats, some fur trimmed, and some not, abound on the avenues. Cloth coats permit more variety in lines and cut, than fur coats. They may be worn earlier and later in the season and need be used fewer years, since they are less expensive. They also have the advantage of being less temptation to thieves and requiring less care and less expense of upkeep.

Materials of the cloth coats are tweed, broadcloth or soft, fleecy wool. Their silhouette lines are straighter than formerly, but they have some fullness in the back. Some reveal the figure but are not close fitted. They may be hip, finger-tip or knee length.

Many cloth coats are heavily trimmed with fur, some with wide fur collars and cuffs and others with mere touches of fur, as a strip across the collar, down the sleeves, pocket trimmings or on one lapel. Coats may be double-breasted or button down the front from chin to hem, or may slide shut on a zipper.

Food Ideas

Make a ham loaf by combining one-third ground ham, one third ground beef and one-third ground pork with seasonings, cracker crumbs, egg and milk. Chopped celery and pimento combine well in the meat loaf. The ham, being of stronger flavor than the other meat will give its flavor to the whole loaf.

For dessert, try banana short cake, heaping sliced bananas on hot gingerbread, with whipped cream atop.

pleasing last course is ice cream on cup cakes.

A cross between the hard, shiny oil cloth sometimes used on kitchen dining tables and regulation table linen, is the new lacquered table cover which is moisture proof, may be cleaned by wiping it off with a damp cloth, yet is dull and pleasing in appearance.

NORTH AMERICAN CRIME CONTROL PROPOSED BY MOUNTIES

WASHINGTON, (UP)—S. T. Wood, veteran officer of the Canadian Mounted Police, today proposed the creation of a commission to coordinate law enforcement activities on the North American continent.

The commission, Wood said, would be patterned after the International Criminal Police Commission at Vienna, Austria, which coordinates functions of law enforcement agencies throughout Europe.

Col. Wood said the federal bureau of investigation should be the "clearing house" in the United States for all crime records and studies to effect better cooperation with international police agencies.

PARADE OF SPORTS

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Writer)

NEW YORK, (UP)—Men long have been at variance over the question of what constitutes the easiest job in the world.

For every one who argues that the station caller on a trans-Atlantic liner has the softest snap, there is one who advances a claim for (1) dentists who treat hens' teeth only (2) the man who compiles a list of football players whose characters were built by coaches and, (3) the man whose duty it is to draw up a code of ethics for the wrestling trust.

Nice jobs, those. Mighty nice. They afford a fellow much time for the worthwhile things such as the classics, numismatics, the spinet, and the Kelly pool. But if I had my choice of jobs I believe I would be sorely tempted to the one now held by Otto Hamlin Saltzger, a utility infielder of the New York Yankees.

Here is a man who not only rides on the gravy train—he drives it, takes up tickets, sells hot coffee and sandwiches, and assists all passengers on and off. The tip-off on the sinecure he has is the fact that one of the "hardest" phases of his position is to understudy Lou Gehrig at first base. And as you know, Gehrig hasn't missed a game since—well, all I know is that he has played right through the administrations of Cleveland, McKinley, Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson, Harding, Coolidge, Hoover, and is apparently good for three or more presidents.

But to get back to Otto Hamlin Saltzger, who, much to his credit, has discarded that Otto Hamlin finery in favor of just Jack. Saltzger this year will receive between $5,000 and $7,000 in salary. But that isn't all—the Yankees won the pennant and will drag down the world series swag, which should be worth in the neighborhood of $6,500 to each player.

So, for his season's work, Saltzger will be paid a total of around $12,000. As the season is only six months long he will be paid at the rate of $25,000 a year. Not cabbage, my little friends, not cabbage.

Now what has Saltzger done to earn this gaudy stipend? Well, to use Al Smith's rolling phrase, let's turn to the record.

Saltzger. Here it is. He has played in 15 games. That's not very many. The Yankees, through today have played 148 games.

Saltzger has been to bat only five times all year, and two of those trips came yesterday in the second game of a double-header. He has made but one hit and scored but five runs.

His must be a happy, contented life because of all the teams in baseball the Yankees are the richest and live and travel in the finest style. And Saltzger rides right along with them, enjoying the best trains, the finest steaks, the most comfortable hotels.

PILOT—Bobby Wallace, veteran of nearly half a century in baseball, named acting pilot of the Cincinnati Reds baseball team, after General Manager Warren C. Giles gave Manager Charley Dressen and Coaches Tom Sheehan and George Kelly their unconditional releases.

The Yankee Stadium is the best playing field in the major leagues, and has a beautifully appointed dugout. Saltzger suffers no discomforts on the bench. The seats in the Yankee dugout are very nice, the shade is cool, and an elegant fountain spouts iced water 24 hours a day.

Manager Joe McCarthy is a kind and considerate manager, and the stadium transportation facilities are quick and sure, making it a pleasure for Saltzger to travel to and from his home.

I sorely envy the man, for my life is a hard one.

HORSE MAY ATTEMPT TO SWIM GOLDEN GATE IN OCTOBER

SAN FRANCISCO, (UP)—Ritchie Roberts, San Francisco restaurant owner, said today he will prove his contention that a horse can swim across the Golden Gate, and thereby win a bet from William Kyne, well known local sportsman and turfman.

Roberts said he intended to pilot Blackie, a 10-year-old trotter "who is just crazy about the water," from the Marin county side of the Golden Gate to the San Francisco side, a distance of less than a mile across San Francisco bay waters.

The experiment will take place, Roberts said, "early in October."

CRIPPLED CHILDREN'S CLINIC SUMMARIZED BY WORKERS

Thirty-five El Dorado County crippled children were examined by Dr. Le Roy Abbott, orthopedic specialist, at a successfully conducted clinic in the courthouse on Tuesday of this week under the auspices of the Crippled Children's Services, State Department of Public Health, the clinic staff reports.

These children came from far corners of the county and presented a great variety of deformities such as conditions arising from diseases or accidents, curvatures of the spine, infantile paralysis, disfiguring scars from burns, severe cross-eyes, wry necks, and deformities of the bones and joints.

The second floor of the courthouse was converted into a temporary clinic with facilities for the recording of medical histories and photographs, the examination of the patients and consultation with the crippled children's specialist.

Graduate public health nurse, Miss Linda Mitschke of the Crippled Children's Services, Mrs. Helen Byrnes and Mrs. Irene Larson assisted the orthopedic specialist, Mrs. B. E. Larson, Mrs. P. McNe, Mrs. H. S. Dunn, Mrs. L. Nelson and Mrs. Swift Berry of the Parent-Teachers Association registered the children, directed the parents and served in various capacities during the operation of the clinic.

The Lions' Club, the Parent-Teacher Association, school and health authorities, Captain J. H. Grover of the California State Society for Crippled Children, Wallace M. Ripley of the Chamber of Commerce and M. T. Kelly of the Lions' Club cooperated to make the clinic a success.

Dr. A. A. McKinnon, Health Officer, and E. J. Fitzgerald, Superintendent of Schools, made every effort to locate crippled children throughout the county who might avail themselves of the opportunity presented by the Crippled Children's Services, State Department of Public Health for diagnosis and correction of crippling deformities. The child's condition was carefully explained to the parent in order that they might understand the necessity of following recommendations of the specialist to correct the child's condition. Each case will later be carefully followed by representatives of the State Department of Public Health who will assist the family in planning for the medical care of the child.

El Dorado County has realized the value of a program which provided for the adequate care of crippled children. They have appropriated funds which can be matched with those of the state and acknowledged the need of adequate care for its crippled children.

STUDENT BODY

The second student body meeting of the year was called to order by President Chet Carsten, Thursday, September 23. The minutes were read and corrected.

The reports of the commissioners were given. Commissioner of finance reported that $281 had been taken in on the student body ticket sale which was closed last Wednesday. The seniors won with a score of 88 per cent. The student body was very pleased to hear this report for it equalled last year's record. Commissioner of publicity reported that the game scheduled for Saturday, September 25 with Sacramento High School had been postponed until October 30 but there will be a game with Preston at Preston October 2.

The commissioner of entertainment turned the meeting over to Coach L. A. Brown who introduced the boys on the football squad and asked for a large turnout at the football games.

Marilyn Rupley, our new yell leader, led the student body in some short and snappy yells and songs. The freshmen were told to learn the school songs and yells by the next meeting—"Kirk"

GIRLS LEAGUE CABINET

Girls' League Cabinet was held Monday the 27th. As the reports of the various commissioners occupied most of the time there was no new or old business brought up before this meeting. However, we did have time to discuss suggestions to make the Girls' League meeting this year more interesting.

BOYS' FORUM

There will be a Boys' Forum meeting Thursday, September 30, which will hold a surprise for everyone, especially the freshmen. Besides the usual business there will be a special entertainment provided by the freshmen.

SPORTS

The football squad had a game between the A and B teams last Saturday. It was a close hard fought game and was won by the B team by a score of 7 to 6.

It showed up the small flaws that are being worked out this week. The team will travel to Preston, Saturday, October 2. Preston played Grant Union reserves last Saturday and held them scoreless for a tie game, so it will probably be a tough opening game. As a whole the team is quite a bit better than last year and there are two complete squads that can be interchanged without much difference. The team looks like it may have a successful year—with the material—all they need is plenty of support.

It's hard to get to Preston on a Saturday but please let's have all the support possible to help the boys along on their opening game. —Ken Ward.

CHESS CLUB

The first Chess Club meeting of the year is to be held Wednesday, September 29 in Mr. Lung's room. There will be the election of officers and a discussion for the coming year. —"Kirk"

HOME ECONOMICS

One hundred three students representing the Home Economics department of the high school attended the cooking school at the Empire Theatre, Wednesday and Friday of last week. The girls enjoyed it very much and some came home with prizes. —"Kirk"

The recommendation will be formally presented at a stockholders' meeting October 11.

Parker offered to buy 51 per cent of the assets but was refused an option.
